Mike Inglese, Aircastle's CEO, stated, "We're continuing to profitably grow our fleet. In the second quarter, we invested a half billion in aircraft acquisitions while earning $57 million in net income. This quarter, lease rental revenue increased 17% versus the second quarter of 2024, driven by favorable lease rates, our expanding scale, and the outstanding efforts of our global team of seasoned aviation professionals. Half of our fleet NBV is now composed of new technology narrow-body aircraft which offer airlines lower emissions and greater fuel efficiency."

Mr. Inglese concluded, "The upgrades we've recently received from S&P and Moody's reflect our steady profitability, growing fleet and strong liquidity. In addition, our investment grade rating bolstered the successful issuance of $650 million unsecured senior notes at 5.000%. With our proven track record and the shareholder support we receive from Marubeni Corporation and Mizuho Leasing, we look forward to carrying this positive momentum into the second half of our fiscal year."

We define EBITDA as income (loss) from continuing operations before income taxes, interest expense, and depreciation and amortization. We use EBITDA to assess our consolidated financial and operating performance, and we believe this non-U.S. GAAP measure is helpful in identifying trends in our performance.

This measure provides an assessment of controllable expenses and affords management the ability to make decisions which are expected to facilitate meeting current financial goals, as well as achieving optimal financial performance. It provides an indicator for management to determine if adjustments to current spending decisions are needed.

EBITDA provides us with a measure of operating performance because it assists us in comparing our operating performance on a consistent basis as it removes the impact of our capital structure (primarily interest charges on our outstanding debt) and asset base (primarily depreciation and amortization) from our operating results. Accordingly, this metric measures our financial performance based on operational factors that management can impact in the short-term, namely the cost structure, or expenses, of the organization. EBITDA is one of the metrics used by senior management and the Board of Directors to review the consolidated financial performance of our business.

We define Adjusted EBITDA as EBITDA (as defined above) further adjusted to give effect to adjustments required in calculating covenant ratios and compliance as that term is defined in the indenture governing our senior unsecured notes. Adjusted EBITDA is a material component of these covenants.
